MY PROJECTS

TITLE : NOTE

MY WORK : Writer & Director

Synopsis : An ordinary man, struggling to clear his debts, loses a ₹500 note and sets out to find it. What begins as a simple search soon pulls him into the shadows of an illegal hawala deal. Mistaken for someone else, he becomes a target and finds himself caught in a dangerous chase. As the pressure builds, the line between innocence and suspicion blurs, forcing him to fight for survival in a world he never intended to enter.

TITLE : The Last Chance

MY WORK : Writer, Editor & Director

Synopsis : After failing the Group Exams multiple times, a young man is left with one final chance that could decide his future. Determined not to waste it, he prepares relentlessly, pushing himself beyond his limits. Exhausted from late-night studying and the weight of expectations, he falls asleep late. On the morning of the exam, he must reach the center by 8:00 AM, but he wakes up at 7:30 AM in panic. With time slipping through his fingers, he rushes to get ready and races toward the exam center, battling traffic, fear, and self-doubt.

Every passing second increases the tension as the story unfolds in real time, leading to one crucial question: Does he reach the exam center on time, or does fate deny him his last chance?

The film explores themes of pressure, perseverance, and the thin line between preparation and destiny.

TITLE : The Night Mare

MY WORK : Writer, Editor & Director

Synopsis : A young man is haunted by a recurring nightmare every night, he finds himself being followed in the dark by an unknown figure wearing a clown mask, slowly approaching him with a knife. Just before the killer's identity is revealed, he jolts awake in fear. In reality, his closest friend has been mysteriously murdered. Ever since that incident, the nightmare keeps repeating, growing more intense with each passing night. The line between his dreams and reality begins to blur, affecting his mental state and daily life. As the story unfolds, questions begin to surface: Why is he having this nightmare? Is it just trauma or a hidden memory trying to surface? Who really killed his friend?

The film gradually uncovers the connection between the nightmare and the murder, leading to a chilling truth where fear, guilt, and reality collide
